

Wrote Husband A Gay Letter Daily, Until He Was Killed

By HAL BOYLE
With American Troops in Germany, Oct. 11 (Delayed) (AP)—In two years with the troops overseas I have read many stirring letters from wives who lost their husbands in foreign combat but none more moving than one written by Kath Irvin whose husband, Bede Irvin, was killed when an American bomb fell short in the breakthrough near St. Lo last July.

Bede, an Associated Press war photographer, now lies buried in France. He was the envy of every soldier and correspondent who knew him because the mailman never passed him by. He was gone from home a year and three months and every day his wife sent him a gay, gossipy letter invariably well-written and cheerful.

Like thousands of other American women whose husbands have died in action, Kath has found it difficult to adjust herself to the finality of death. She expressed this last feeling in a letter to Danny Grossi, another AP photographer, thanking him for telling her the details of Bede's death.

Perfect Marriage
Because I knew Bede and Kath well Danny showed me this letter and I should like to share it with you for the picture it gives of a perfect marriage broken by war. I know Kath will understand my reason and therefore won't mind.

Nothing is very real even now. "And I find myself putting away little chit-chat in my mind for future letters I will be writing to Bede—and then I remember there can be no more letters to write to him, can be no more mail coming from him, can be no more home leave, no home coming at all so far as my Bede is concerned. But it is the impossibility of everything which makes it hard for me to believe that it is true and makes me think that he will some day be returning home like millions of other men who will some day be doing."

No Heroic Ideas
"There is so little comfort in the fact that Bede was a good soldier and died a good soldier's death. . . . Bede held no idea of ever being heroic. He would say how little he did over there compared to what so many other men were contributing. Yet he had a certain amount of satisfaction in knowing that he was doing whatever he had to do to the best of his ability. I know Bede was happy this past year and three months—as happy as any man can be so far away from his family and home."

There are so many things I want to thank you for—the pictures you sent—Bede's campaign ribbon—and the mass you asked your uncle to say for Bede. That was a beautiful thing to do, Danny. . . . I know of no lovelier thing than one man sharing his religion with another."

Plans Shattered
"I don't know if you are married, Danny, but there are so many hopes and plans between a husband and wife. Plans that won't for Bede and myself ever come true. Nothing we ever dreamed of together can ever come true now. Little sounds of shattering hopes and dreams are big noisy now—nothing to hope for—and no understanding."

Not seeing Bede around the house isn't an unusual thing for me—it has been a long time since we were together in our own apartment. For you boys in London it is different. You have seen Bede more frequently than I. You have eaten with him, talked with him, been around him—and now that he is gone it is hard in another way for all of you. . . . I know how heavy your hearts will be. . . . And how carefully dry your eyes will be as you carefully try to avoid mention of Bede's name."

Happy Memories
"I, too, have things to face. There will be no more dinners for us together, no more future to dream of and plan on together. But most of all there will be no more Bede. No more Bede to ever meet again. No more Bede ever coming home again. I do have memories—memories of Bede and memories of happiness we found together in some eight years of being married. I have memories, and pictures and letters. They're good to have—good to lean on—but there is never to be Bede himself again."

No, Danny, there is nothing more you can do. You've already done so much and there is nothing more I could ask for. The one thing I want cannot be acquired—Bede. "Maybe someday, if ever we meet again, perhaps you can talk to me about Bede—tell me something I might know—tell me of Bede the soldier, for the only one I know is the Bede that was with me for all too short a time. The Bede who listened to the sound of taps on his 34th birthday. The Bede who now lies asleep on French soil where he once picked two red poppies and sent them to me in one of his last letters."

And The Moral
Kath kept Bede happy by her letters to the day of his untimely death. Through her letters she was with him—part of his life—every day for the 15 months he was away. (Please turn to Page 2)

POLICE PUT OUT FIRE; RESCUE TWO CHILDREN

Discovering smoke pouring from the front transom at Ned's Tavern, Chambersburg street, this morning about 2 o'clock as they were returning to the local station from a midnight patrol, two state policemen broke into the taproom, extinguished the flames and rescued two young children who were coughing and reportedly almost overcome by smoke in an adjoining building.

The officers, Pvs. Harold K. Trout and Robert E. Dietrich, had the flames under control with hand fire extinguishers when the Gettysburg firemen responded to an alarm turned in by a neighbor at the direction of the officers.

Enter Through Window
Using an extinguisher they carried in the police car and pressing into use another they found in the kitchen of the tavern, the officers put out the flames after breaking open a rear window.

The flames were confined to the kitchen of the taproom. Burnett Buohl, the proprietor, said the fire may have been caused by a cigarette. A hole was burned through the floor and several bottle cases also caught fire. Buohl said smoke caused as much damage as the fire itself and estimated the loss at about $200. He carried insurance, he said. The establishment had been closed about a half hour earlier.

Rescues Kiddies
Mrs. Donald Little, who lives nearby and who turned in the alarm, told the officers two young children of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Chamberlin were alone in an apartment adjoining the taproom on the west. Private Trout forced a door and carried the children—William, aged eight, and Dolores, aged two—out of the building and turned them over to Mrs. Little. Mrs. Chamberlin said today that Mrs. Little's quarters adjoin the Chamberlin residence and added that she had told Mrs. Little she was leaving the children alone.

When the officer found the pair they were coughing from the clouds of smoke that filled their rooms. The girl was said to have been nearly overcome. The mother said they are all right today.

The firemen responded to the alarm but found the flames had been put out when they arrived.

SGT. WARNER'S CAPTAIN PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE

High tribute is paid to Sgt. George W. Warner both as a soldier and a friend in a letter recently received by his family from Capt. Cormac F. O'Callaghan, commander of the Quartermaster company to which he was attached.

Sergeant Warner died August 7 of pneumonia. The war department reported the death occurred in a hospital in England but Capt. O'Callaghan's letter gives the place of death. The officer told the family that George had every possible care and medical aid and stated that the writer had attended rites at which Warner was buried in a military cemetery in France.

He wrote further:

"Asset to the Company"
"Your son, George, has served with me since February, 1942. He and I served in the same company in Iceland. He and I came back to the United States and have been in the same company ever since. He has been my first cook in the company all this time, and a company could not find a better cook in the whole United States than George was. He was a distinct asset to the company."

"He was an honest, willing, and able man with a ready smile. Always when we talked he would reminisce with me of the old company in Iceland. His character was excellent. He was a very fine man and soldier who led a very good Christian life. His passing away is a great loss to the company and one that cannot easily be replaced. I informed the company of his death and we all bowed our heads in prayer for the peace and quiet I know his soul will find."

The letter was sent to George's father, John J. Warner, at Ashland, Ohio, and then forwarded to the soldier's sister, Mrs. Clyde Baumgardner at Biglerville, with whom George had resided before he entered the service.

CYCLIST HURT CRASHING TRAIN

Charles E. Arendt, 19, Gettysburg R. 3, suffered multiple abrasions and contusions when his motorcycle skidded sideways for 72 feet and struck the tender of a backing Western Maryland locomotive at the Carlisle street crossing Wednesday evening at 7:49 o'clock.

Arendt was admitted to the Warner hospital and treated for his injuries. He was discharged about noon today.

Borough Officer Charles W. Culp, Jr., who investigated said he will file a charge of driving too fast for conditions against Arendt this afternoon before Justice of the Peace John H. Bashore.

The locomotive was backing west across the crossing when Arendt's cycle approached from the direction of the square. Unable to stop, the youth slid his machine into the tender. The cycle was said to have been considerably damaged but the tender was unscathed.

No Confirmation From Allies; New Push In Germany

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

London, Oct. 19 (AP) — British Tommies and American armor rocked the Germans back toward Venlo on the Maas (Meuse) from the Holland salient today in what appeared to be the preliminaries to an offensive aimed at breaking organized German resistance before Christmas.

West of Antwerp in Holland Canadian forces were less than two miles from the German guns at Breskens commanding the sea entrance to the port from the pocket south of the Schelde.

In Aachen U.S. First Army troops, again smashing German tank and infantry counterthrusts northeast of the Siegfried line city, held about half the wrecked city and smashed on into the northwestern quarter where fighters and fighter bombers pinpointed strongpoints ahead of the bazooka and grenade squads.

Offensive Increases

Coincident with Berlin's report of a savage Russian onslaught against East Prussia's defenses, the German radio declared that the British offensive in East Holland, "in support of the American attack on Aachen, has increased in violence."

The timing raised the possibility of a grand strategy plan to beat the Nazis by smashing simultaneously at East Prussia, heart of German militarism, while wrecking the Rhine-Ruhr valley, the center of German industry.

An Associated Press war correspondent with the British Second army said Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's troops, striking swiftly after taking Venray, had advanced about three and a half miles south toward the railroad town of Amerika. An American armored column was converging at a distance of five miles upon the same objective from the east.

Nearing Duisburg

The Germans had been eliminated from all but about seven square miles of territory west of the Maas, and the Allies were within 33 miles of Duisburg in the Ruhr. Berlin said Dempsey had concentrated strong forces in the area to annihilate the Germans' Maas bridgehead—an objective which would straighten the line along the Dutch border in preparation for an Allied cross-river assault.

In a desperate effort to avoid being trapped on the west bank, the Germans apparently were falling back to the south toward Venlo as their comrades in the Venray-Amerika area were pushed back.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique, officially reporting the seizure of the rail and road town of Venray, seven miles from the German border, said that Allied forces had advanced two miles south of the Venray-Duerne road and gains had been made from the west along the north side of the railway east of Duerne.

Aachen's End Near

The German report on this sector said that bitter hand-to-hand fighting was taking place east and northeast of Heilmund, which the enemy had acknowledged evacuating. Heilmund is five miles west of Duerne. Inside shell-ripped Aachen the end appeared in sight.

The Allied communique, however, said that the Nazi garrison was resisting stubbornly, and placed the center of the fighting in the north-west sector.

From the Berlin radio came a report that the Americans had reached the main Aachen station and were pushing on toward the heart of the city.

Soldier Slightly Wounded In Action

Pfc. Donald P. Hankey, 21, son of Mrs. Nora B. Hankey, Gettysburg R. 3, was slightly wounded in action in Italy on October 4, according to a War department telegram received Wednesday evening by his mother.

Pfc. Hankey was inducted into the service on February 1, 1943, and received his infantry training at Camp Moniz, Texas. He was sent overseas last December and was stationed in North Africa before going to Italy. Before his induction he was employed by the C. H. Musselman company at Gardners.

The wounded soldier has three brothers in the service. Pfc. Merle L. Hankey, 26, is now in France. Pvt. Howard E. Hankey, 23, is stationed at Camp McCoy, Wis., and A. M. M. C. Fred W. Hankey, 22, Navy, is stationed at the Mercer County Air Field, Trenton, N. J.

American Expeditionary forces are invading the Philippines, Tokyo radio reported today, striking at the very center of the vulnerable eastern flank of the archipelago.

Domei news agency said flatly that United States forces have begun their "reinvansion of the Philippines," supported by powerful units of the Pacific fleet and China-based aircraft.

Sea forces, Domei said, included "the naval fleet under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur."

An official Japanese communique said "the enemy fleet" accompanied transports into spacious Leyte gulf Tuesday (Manila time) and for the last two days naval guns and carrier aircraft have been bombarding shore defenses.

"Part of the enemy force seems to have landed on Suluan island" at the entrance of the gulf, Domei news agency said.

Japs Claim Resistance

Domei asserted Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's powerful task force 58—the carrier arm of the Pacific fleet—was not participating in the invasion because of asserted losses suffered off Formosa. These have been denied by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

Since the Formosa battle, Domei broadcast, "the enemy has organized a new large task force, grouping together the Fifth Fleet under Vice Adm. Raymond Spruance, which did not participate in the air battle off Taiwan (Formosa), and the naval fleet under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, as well as other naval forces in the Pacific, excluding the 58th task force."

"Our army and navy forces in this sector," Domei added, "are confronting the enemy forces with undaunted resolution."

Ready For Conquest

These broadcasts, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, were the only reports that Gen. MacArthur had taken the most crucial step to fulfill his pledge, made two and a half years ago, to return to the Philippines.

While there was no confirmation that the Philippines invasion was at least underway, the combined Pacific sea forces of Adm. Nimitz and land-based air strength of General MacArthur have been plying the way for reconquest of the territory in ten days of unprecedented raids on western Pacific islands for a thousand miles either side of the Philippines.

These thunderous attacks which have cost the Japanese close to 1,000 planes and hundreds of ships are still continuing, Manila radio reported. It told of 270 carrier planes striking in four waves this morning at Manila and strategic Clark Field. The Japanese-controlled radio claimed 19 were shot down.

Ambiguous Claims

The Mikado's war lords said "our navy and army units" are "intercepting this enemy force"—an ambiguous expression which Tokyo uses to describe any kind of defense or none at all.

The unconfirmed Tokyo announcements indicated that a powerful task group of Adm. William F. Halsey's Third Fleet combined with the southwest Pacific naval forces boldly "sailed into Leyte gulf in the central Philippines to screen an amphibious landing on tiny Suluan island and perhaps some of the other islands bordering the gulf."

The area, only 400 miles from Manila, is an ideal spot from which to establish aerial control of the islands, and completely nullify air bases that carrier planes haven't already knocked out.

"I don't know if you are married, Danny, but there are so many hopes and plans between a husband and wife. Plans that won't for Bede and myself ever come true. Nothing we ever dreamed of together can ever come true now. Little sounds of shattering hopes and dreams are big noises now—nothing to hope for—and no understanding."

"... Not seeing Bede around the house isn't an unusual thing for me—it has been a long time since we were together in our own apartment. For you boys in London it is different. You have seen Bede more frequently than I. You have eaten with him, talked with him, been around him—and now that he is gone it is hard in another way for all of you, too. ... I know how heavy your hearts will be. ... And how carefully dry your eyes will be as you carefully try to avoid mention of Bede's name."

Happy Memories
"I, too, have things to face. There will be no more dinners for us together, no more future to dream of and plan on together. But most of all there will be no more Bede. No more Bede to ever meet again. No more Bede coming home again. I do have memories—memories of Bede and memories of happiness we found together in some eight years of being married. I have memories and pictures and letters. They're good to have—good to lean on—but there is never to be Bede himself again."

"No, Danny, there is nothing more you can do. You've already done so much and there is nothing more I could ask for. The one thing I want cannot be acquired—Bede."

"Maybe someday, if ever we meet again, perhaps you can talk to me about Bede—tell me something I might know—tell me of Bede the soldier, for the only one I know is the Bede that was with me for all too short a time, the Bede who listened to the sound of taps on his 34th birthday, the Bede who now lies asleep on French soil where he once picked two red poppies and sent them to me in one of his last letters."

And The Moral
Kath kept Bede happy by her letters to the day of his untimely death. Through her letters she was with him—part of his life—every day for the 15 months he was away. (Please turn to Page 2)

POLICE PUT OUT FIRE; RESCUE TWO CHILDREN

Discovering smoke pouring from the front transom at Ned's Tavern, Chambersburg street, this morning about 2 o'clock as they were returning to the local substation for a midnight patrol, two state policemen broke into the taproom, extinguished the flames and rescued two young children who were coughing and reportedly almost overcome by smoke in an adjoining building.

The officers, Pts. Harold K. Trout and Robert E. Dietrich, had the flames under control with hand fire extinguishers when the Gettysburg firemen responded to an alarm turned in by a neighbor at the direction of the officers.

Enter Through Window
Using an extinguisher they carried in the police car and pressing into use another they found in the kitchen of the tavern, the officers put out the flames after breaking open a rear window.

The flames were confined to the kitchen of the taproom. Burnell Buohl, the proprietor, said the fire may have been caused by a cigarette. A hole was burned through the floor and several bottle cases also caught fire. Buohl said smoke caused as much damage as the fire itself and estimated the loss at about $200. He carried insurance, he said. The establishment had been closed about a half hour earlier.

Rescues Kiddies
Mrs. Donald Little, who lives nearby and who turned in the alarm, told the officers two young children of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Chamberlin were alone in an apartment adjoining the taproom on the west. Private Trout forced a door and carried the children—William, aged eight, and Dolores, aged two—out of the building and turned them over to Mrs. Little. Mrs. Chamberlin said today that Mrs. Little's quarters adjoin the Chamberlin residence and added that she had told Mrs. Little she was leaving the children alone.

When the officer found the pair they were coughing from the clouds of smoke that filled their rooms. The girl was said to have been nearly overcome. The mother said they are all right today.

The firemen responded to the alarm but found the flames had been put out when they arrived.

SGT. WARNER'S CAPTAIN PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE

High tribute is paid to Sgt. George W. Warner both as a soldier and a friend in a letter recently received by his family from Capt. Cormac F. O'Callaghan, commander of the Quartermaster company to which he was attached.

Sergeant Warner died August 7 of pneumonia. The war department reported the death occurred in a hospital in England but Capt. O'Callaghan's letter gives a military hospital in France as the place of death. The officer told the family that George had every possible care and medical aid and stated that the writer had attended rites at which Warner was buried in a military cemetery in France.

He wrote further:

"Asset to the Company"
"Your son, George, has served with me since February, 1942. He and I served in the same company in Iceland. He and I came back to the United States and have been in the same company ever since. He has been my first cook in the company all this time, and a company could not find a better cook in the whole United States than George was. He was a distinct asset to the company."

"He was an honest, willing, and able man with a ready smile. Always when we talked he would reminisce with me of the old company in Iceland. His character was excellent. He was a very fine man and soldier who led a very good Christian life. His passing away is a great loss to the company and one that cannot easily be replaced. I informed the company of his death and we all bowed our heads in prayer for the peace and quiet I know his soul will find."

The letter was sent to George's father, John J. Warner, at Ashland, Ohio, and then forwarded to the soldier's sister, Mrs. Clyde Baumgardner at Biglerville, with whom George had resided before he entered the service.

Suffering a fracture of the left leg in a fall in the kitchen of her home last Thursday, Mrs. Alice Rosann Heikes, 79, York Springs R. 2, died this morning at 4:40 o'clock in the Warner hospital. CYCLIST HURT CRASHING TRAIN

Charles E. Arendt, 19, Gettysburg R. 3, suffered multiple abrasions and contusions when his motorcycle skidded sideways for 72 feet and struck the tender of a backing Western Maryland locomotive at the Carlisle street crossing Wednesday evening at 7:49 o'clock.

Arendt was admitted to the Warner hospital and treated for his injuries. He was discharged about noon today.

Borough Officer Charles W. Culp, Jr., who investigated said he will file a charge of driving too fast for conditions against Arendt this afternoon before Justice of the Peace John H. Bashore.

The locomotive was backing west across the crossing when Arendt's cycle approached from the direction of the square. Unable to stop, the youth slid his machine into the tender. The cycle was said to have been considerably damaged but the tender was unscathed.

No Confirmation From Allies; New Push In Germany

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

London, Oct. 19 (AP) — British Tommies and American armor rocked the Germans back toward Venlo on the Maas (Meuse) from the Holland salient today in what appeared to be the preliminaries to an offensive aimed at breaking organized German resistance before Christmas.

West of Antwerp in Holland Canadian forces were less than two miles from the German guns at Breskens commanding the sea entrance to the port from the pocket south of the Schelde.

In Aachen U.S. First Army troops, again smashing German tank and infantry counterattacks northeast of the Siegfried line city, held about half the wrecked city and smashed on into the northwestern quarter where fighters and fighter bombers pinpointed strongpoints ahead of the bazooka and grenade squads.

Offensive Increases

Coincident with Berlin's report of a savage Russian onslaught against East Prussia's defenses, the German radio declared that the British offensive in East Holland, "in support of the American attack on Aachen, has increased in violence."

The timing raised the possibility of a grand strategy plan to beat the Nazis by smashing simultaneously at East Prussia, heart of German militarism, while wrecking the Rhine-Ruhr valley, the center of German industry.

An Associated Press war correspondent with the British Second army said Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's troops, striking swiftly after taking Venray, had advanced about three and a half miles south toward the railroad town of Amerika. An American armored column was converging at a distance of five miles upon the same objective from the east.

Nearing Duisburg

The Germans had been eliminated from all but about seven square miles of territory west of the Maas, and the Allies were within 33 miles of Duisburg in the Ruhr.

Berlin said Dempsey had concentrated strong forces in the area to annihilate the Germans' Maas bridgehead—an objective which would straighten the line along the Dutch border in preparation for an Allied cross-river assault.

In a desperate effort to avoid being trapped on the west bank, the Germans apparently were falling back to the south toward Venlo as their comrades in the Venray-Amerika area were pushed back.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique, officially reporting the seizure of the rail and road town of Venray, seven miles from the German border, said that Allied forces had advanced two miles south of the Venray-Deurne road and gains had been made from the west along the north side of the railway east of Deurne.

Aachen's End Near

The German report on this sector said that bitter hand-to-hand fighting was taking place east and north-east of Helmond, which the enemy had acknowledged evacuating. Helmond is five miles west of Deurne. Inside shell-ripped Aachen the end appeared in sight.

The Allied communique, however, said that the Nazi garrison was resisting stubbornly, and placed the center of the fighting in the north-west section.

From the Berlin radio came a report that the Americans had reached the main Aachen station and were pushing on toward the heart of the city.

Soldier Slightly Wounded In Action

Pfc. Donald F. Hankey, 21, son of Mrs. Nora B. Hankey, Gettysburg R. 3, was slightly wounded in action in Italy on October 4, according to a War department telegram received Wednesday evening by his mother.

Pfc. Hankey was inducted into the service on February 1, 1943, and received his infantry training at Camp Howze, Texas. He was sent overseas last December and was stationed in north Africa before going to Italy. Before his induction he was employed by the C. H. Musselman company at Gardners.

The wounded soldier has three brothers in the service. Pfc. Merle L. Hankey, 26, is now in France. Pvt. Howard E. Hankey, 28, is stationed at Camp McCoy, Wis., and A. M. M. 1/C Fred W. Hankey, 22, Navy, is stationed at the Mercer County Air Field, Trenton, N. J.

(By The Associated Press)
American Expeditionary forces are invading the Philippines. Tokyo radio reported today, striking at the very center of the vulnerable eastern flank of the archipelago.

Domei news agency said flatly that United States forces have begun their "reinvansion of the Philippines," supported by powerful units of the Pacific fleet and China-based aircraft.

Sea forces, Domei said, included "the naval fleet under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur."

An official Japanese communique said "the enemy fleet" accompanied transports into sparsely Leyte gulf Tuesday (Manila time) and for the last two days naval guns and carrier aircraft have been bombarding shore defenses.

"Part of the enemy force seems to have landed on Sulu island" at the entrance of the gulf, Domei news agency said.

Japs Claim Resistance

Domei asserted Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's powerful task force 58—the carrier arm of the Pacific fleet—was not participating in the invasion because of asserted losses suffered off Formosa. These have been denied by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

Since the Formosa battle, Domei broadcast, "the enemy has organized a new large task force, grouping together the Fifth Fleet under Vice Adm. Raymond Spruance, which did not participate in the air battle off Taiwan (Formosa), and the naval fleet under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, as well as other naval forces in the Pacific, excluding the 58th task force."

"Our army and navy forces in this sector," Domei added, "are confronting the enemy forces with undaunted resolution."

Ready For Conquest

These broadcasts, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, were the only reports that Gen. MacArthur had taken the most crucial step to fulfill his pledge, made two and a half years ago, to return to the Philippines.

While there was no confirmation that the Philippines invasion was at least underway, the combined Pacific sea forces of Adm. Nimitz and land-based air strength of General MacArthur have been paying the way for reconquest of the territory in ten days of unprecedented raids on western Pacific islands for a thousand miles either side of the Philippines.

These thunderous attacks which have cost the Japanese close to 1,000 planes and hundreds of ships are still continuing, Manila radio reported. It told of 270 carrier planes striking in four waves this morning at Manila and strategic Clark Field. The Japanese - controlled radio claimed 19 were shot down.

Ambiguous Claims

The Mikado's war lords said "our navy and army units" are "intercepting this enemy force"—an ambiguous expression which Tokyo uses to describe any kind of defense or none at all.

The unconfirmed Tokyo announcements indicated that a powerful task group of Adm. William F. Halsey's Third Fleet combined with the southwest Pacific naval forces boldly stamed into Leyte gulf in the central Philippines to screen an amphibious landing on tiny Sulu island and perhaps some of the other islands bordering the gulf.

The area, only 400 miles from Manila, is an ideal spot from which to establish aerial control of the islands, and completely nullify air bases that carrier planes haven't already knocked out.

To Attend Scout Sessions Friday

Several Adams county men will attend the twenty-fourth annual meeting of region three, Boy Scouts of America, to be held Friday at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel, Philadelphia.

The local men to attend are O. H. Benson, Gettysburg R. D., former National Director of Rural Scouting; Hugh W. Castles, Round Top, district chairman, and Charles Spangler, chairman of camping and activities committee, Round Top district. Ray F. Zaner, chief scout executive for the York-Adams area council, and the Rev. D. Perry Bucke, York, formerly pastor of the Methodist church here, will be among others attending.

Wrote Husband A Gay Letter Daily, Until He Was Killed

By HAL BOYLE
With American Troops in Germany, Oct. 11 (Delayed) (AP)—In two years with the troops overseas I have read many stirring letters from wives who lost their husbands in foreign combat but none more moving than one written by Kath Irvin whose husband, Bede Irvin, was killed when an American bomb fell short in the breakthrough near St. Lo last July.

Bede, an Associated Press war photographer, now lies buried in France. He was the envy of every soldier and correspondent who knew him because the mailman never passed him by. He was gone from home a year and three months and every day his wife sent him a gay, gossipy letter invariably well-written and cheerful.

Like thousands of other American women whose husbands have died in action, Kath has found it difficult to adjust herself to the finality of death. She expressed this lost feeling in a letter to Danny Grossi, another AP photographer, thanking him for telling her the details of Bede's death.

Perfect Marriage
Because I knew Bede and Kath well Danny showed me this letter and I should like to share it with you for the picture it gives of a perfect marriage broken by war. I know Kath will understand my reason and therefore won't mind.

"... Nothing is very real even now," she wrote. "And I find myself putting away little chit-chat in my mind for future letters I will be writing to Bede—and then I remember there can be no more letters to write to him, can be no more mail coming from him, can be no more home leave, no home coming at all so far as my Bede is concerned. But it is the impossibility of everything which makes it hard for me to believe that it is true and makes me think that he will some day be returning home like millions of other men will some day be doing."

No Heroic Ideas
"There is so little comfort in the fact that Bede was a good soldier and died a good soldier's death. ... Bede held no idea of ever being heroic. He would say how little he did over there compared to what so many other men were contributing. Yet he had a certain amount of satisfaction in knowing that he was doing whatever he had to do to the best of his ability. I know Bede was happy this past year and three months—as happy as any man can be so far away from his family and home."

"... There are so many things I want to thank you for—the pictures you sent—Bede's campaign ribbon—and the mass you asked your uncle to say for Bede. That was a beautiful thing to do, Danny. ... I know of no lovelier thing than one man sharing his religion with another."

Plans Shattered
"I don't know if you are married, Danny, but there are so many hopes and plans between a husband and wife. Plans that won't for Bede and myself ever come true. Nothing we ever dreamed of together can ever come true now. Little sounds of shattering hopes and dreams are big noises now—nothing to hope for—and no understanding."

"... Not seeing Bede around the house isn't an unusual thing for me—it has been a long time since we were together in our own apartment. For you boys in London it is different. You have seen Bede more frequently than I. You have eaten with him, talked with him, been around him—and now that he is gone it is hard in another way for all of you, too. ... I know how heavy your hearts will be. ... And how carefully dry your eyes will be as you carefully try to avoid mention of Bede's name."

Happy Memories
"I, too, have things to face. There will be no more dinners for us together, no more future to dream of and plan on together. But most of all there will be no more Bede. No more Bede to ever meet again. No Bede ever coming home again. I do have memories—memories of Bede and memories of happiness we found together in some eight years of being married. I have memories and pictures and letters. They're good to have—good to lean on—but there is never to be Bede himself again."

"No, Danny, there is nothing more you can do. You've already done so much and there is nothing more I could ask for. The one thing I want cannot be acquired—Bede."

"Maybe someday, if ever we meet again, perhaps you can talk to me about Bede—tell me something I might know—tell me of Bede the soldier, for the only one I know is the Bede that was with me for all too short a time, the Bede who listened to the sound of taps on his 34th birthday, the Bede who now lies asleep on French soil where he once picked two red poppies and sent them to me in one of his last letters."

And The Moral
Kath kept Bede happy by her letters to the day of his untimely death. Through her letters she was with him—part of his life—every day for the 15 months he was away.

POLICE PUT OUT FIRE; RESCUE TWO CHILDREN

Discovering smoke pouring from the front transom at Ned's Tavern, Chambersburg street, this morning about 2 o'clock as they were returning to the local substation from a midnight patrol, two state policemen broke into the taproom, extinguished the flames and rescued two young children who were coughing and reportedly almost overcome by smoke in an adjoining building.

The officers, Pvts. Harold K. Trout and Robert E. Dietrich, had the flames under control with hand fire extinguishers when the Gettysburg firemen responded to an alarm turned in by a neighbor at the direction of the officers.

Enter Through Window
Using an extinguisher they carried in the police car and pressing into use another they found in the kitchen of the tavern, the officers put out the flames after breaking open a rear window.

The flames were confined to the kitchen of the taproom. Burnell Buohi, the proprietor, said the fire may have been caused by a cigarette. A hole was burned through the floor and several bottle cases also caught fire. Buohi said smoke caused as much damage as the fire itself and estimated the loss at about $200. He carried insurance, he said. The establishment had been closed about a half hour earlier.

Rescues Kiddies
Mrs. Donald Little, who lives nearby and who turned in the alarm, told the officers two young children of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Chamberlin were alone in an apartment adjoining the taproom on the west. Private Trout forced a door and carried the children—William, aged eight, and Dolores, aged two—out of the building and turned them over to Mrs. Little. Mrs. Chamberlin said today that Mrs. Little's quarters adjoin the Chamberlin residence and added that she had told Mrs. Little she was leaving the children alone.

When the officer found the pair they were coughing from the clouds of smoke that filled their rooms. The girl was said to have been nearly overcome. The mother said they are all right today.

The firemen responded to the alarm but found the flames had been put out when they arrived.

SGT. WARNER'S CAPTAIN PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE

High tribute is paid to Sgt. George W. Warner both as a soldier and a friend in a letter recently received by his family from Capt. Cormac F. O'Callaghan, commander of the Quartermaster company to which he was attached.

Sergeant Warner died August 7 of pneumonia. The war department reported the death occurred in a hospital in England but Capt. O'Callaghan's letter gives a military hospital in France as the place of death. The officer told the family that George had every possible care and medical aid and stated that the writer had attended rites at which Warner was buried in a military cemetery in France.

He wrote further:

"Asset to the Company"
"Your son, George, has served with me since February, 1942. He and I served in the same company in Iceland. He and I came back to the United States and have been in the same company ever since. He has been my first cook in the company all this time, and a company could not find a better cook in the whole United States than George was. He was a distinct asset to the company."

"He was an honest, willing, and able man with a ready smile. Always when we talked he would reminisce with me of the old company in Iceland. His character was excellent. He was a very fine man and soldier who led a very good Christian life. His passing away is a great loss to the company and one that cannot easily be replaced. I informed the company of his death and we all bowed our heads in prayer for the peace and quiet I know his soul will find."

The letter was sent to George's father, John J. Warner, at Ashland, Ohio, and then forwarded to the soldier's sister, Mrs. Clyde Baumgardner at Biglerville, with whom George had resided before he entered the service.

No Confirmation From Allies; New Push In Germany

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

London, Oct. 19 (AP) — British Tommies and American armor rocked the Germans back toward Venlo on the Maas (Meuse) from the Holland salient today in what appeared to be the preliminaries to an offensive aimed at breaking organized German resistance before Christmas.

West of Antwerp in Holland Canadian forces were less than two miles from the German guns at Breskens commanding the sea entrance to the port from the pocket south of the Schelde.

In Aachen U.S. First Army troops, again smashing German tank and infantry counterthrusts northeast of the Siegfried line city, held about half the wrecked city and smashed on into the northwestern quarter where fighters and fighter bombers pinpointed strongpoints ahead of the bazooka and grenade squads.

Offensive Increases
Coincident with Berlin's report of a savage Russian onslaught against East Prussia's defenses, the German radio declared that the British offensive in East Holland, "in support of the American attack on Aachen, has increased in violence."

The timing raised the possibility of a grand strategy plan to beat the Nazis by smashing simultaneously at East Prussia, heart of German militarism, while wrecking the Rhine-Ruhr valley, the center of German industry.

An Associated Press war correspondent with the British Second army said Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's troops, striking swiftly after taking Venray, had advanced about three and a half miles south toward the railroad town of Amerika. An American armored column was converging at a distance of five miles upon the same objective from the east.

Nearing Duisburg
The Germans had been eliminated from all but about seven square miles of territory west of the Maas, and the Allies were within 33 miles of Duisburg in the Ruhr.

Berlin said Dempsey had concentrated strong forces in the area to annihilate the Germans' Maas bridgehead—an objective which would straighten the line along the Dutch border in preparation for an Allied cross-river assault.

In a desperate effort to avoid being trapped on the west bank, the Germans apparently were falling back to the south toward Venlo as their comrades in the Venray-Amerika area were pushed back.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique, officially reporting the seizure of the rail and road town of Venray, seven miles from the German border, said that Allied forces had advanced two miles south of the Venray-Deurne road and gains had been made from the west along the north side of the railway east of Deurne.

Aachen's End Near
The German report on this sector said that bitter hand-to-hand fighting was taking place east and north-east of Helmond, which the enemy had acknowledged evacuating. Helmond is five miles west of Deurne. Inside shell-ripped Aachen the end appeared in sight.

The Allied communique, however, said that the Nazi garrison was resisting stubbornly, and placed the center of the fighting in the north-west section.

From the Berlin radio came a report that the Americans had reached the main Aachen station and were pushing on toward the heart of the city.

Soldier Slightly Wounded In Action

Pfc. Donald F. Hankey, 21, son of Mrs. Nora B. Hankey, Gettysburg R. 3, was slightly wounded in action in Italy on October 4, according to a War department telegram received Wednesday evening by his mother.

Pfc. Hankey was inducted into the service on February 1, 1943, and received his infantry training at Camp Howze, Texas. He was sent overseas last December and was stationed in north Africa before going to Italy. Before his induction he was employed by the C. H. Musselman company at Gardners.

The wounded soldier has three brothers in the service. Pfc. Merle L. Hankey, 26, is now in France. Pvt. Howard E. Hankey, 23, is stationed at Camp McCoy, Wis., and A. M. M. 1/C Fred W. Hankey, 22, Navy, is stationed at the Mercer County Air Field, Trenton, N. J.

American Expeditionary forces are invading the Philippines. Tokyo radio reported today, striking at the very center of the vulnerable eastern flank of the archipelago.

Domei news agency said flatly that United States forces have begun their "reinvansion of the Philippines," supported by powerful units of the Pacific fleet and China-based aircraft.

Sea forces, Domei said, included "the naval fleet under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur."

An official Japanese communique said "the enemy fleet" accompanied transports into sparsely Leyte gulf Tuesday (Manila time) and for the last two days naval guns and carrier aircraft have been bombarding shore defenses.

"Part of the enemy force seems to have landed on Suluan island" at the entrance of the gulf, Domei news agency said.

Japs Claim Resistance
Domei asserted Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's powerful task force 58—the carrier arm of the Pacific fleet—was not participating in the invasion because of asserted losses suffered off Formosa. These have been denied by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

Since the Formosa battle, Domei broadcast, "the enemy has organized a new large task force, grouping together the Fifth Fleet under Vice Adm. Raymond Spruance, which did not participate in the air battle off Taiwan (Formosa), and the naval fleet under the command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, as well as other naval forces in the Pacific, excluding the 58th task force."

"Our army and navy forces in this sector," Domei added, "are confronting the enemy forces with undaunted resolution."

Ready For Conquest
These broadcasts, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, were the only reports that Gen. MacArthur had taken the most crucial step to fulfill his pledge, made two and a half years ago, to return to the Philippines.

While there was no confirmation that the Philippines invasion was at least underway, the combined Pacific sea forces of Adm. Nimitz and land-based air strength of General MacArthur have been paying the way for reconquest of the territory in ten days of unprecedented raids on western Pacific islands for a thousand miles either side of the Philippines.

These thunderous attacks which have cost the Japanese close to 1,000 planes and hundreds of ships are still continuing, Manila radio reported. It told of 270 carrier planes striking in four waves this morning at Manila and strategic Clark Field. The Japanese - controlled radio claimed 19 were shot down.

Ambiguous Claims
The Mikado's war lords said "our navy and army units" are "intercepting this enemy force"—an ambiguous expression which Tokyo uses to describe any kind of defense or none at all.

The unconfirmed Tokyo announcements indicated that a powerful task group of Adm. William F. Halsey's Third Fleet combined with the southwest Pacific naval forces boldly stamed into Leyte gulf in the central Philippines to screen an amphibious landing on tiny Suluan island and perhaps some of the other islands bordering the gulf.

The area, only 400 miles from Manila, is an ideal spot from which to establish aerial control of the islands, and completely nullify air bases that carrier planes haven't already knocked out.

WARSAW AND ANTWERP KEYS TO VICTORY

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The possibility of victory in Europe this year will very likely be decided by the speed with which Allied armies can turn to their own use the two great strategic keys to Hitler's fortress Germany—the Dutch port city of Antwerp and Poland's devastated capital, Warsaw.

Full use of the unloading facilities of Antwerp could solve much of the western front supply problem and support a crushing thrust into the Reich over the shortest, best route to Berlin.

Antwerp is in Allied hands but enemy guns still dominate its approaches, barring the way to shipping. Clearing those approaches is conceded by military men here to be one of the top-priority jobs on the western front.

Multiple Blows Unless they are cleared very promptly it appears highly improbable that the Allies can muster full strength against all the enemy's vulnerable points for multiple heavy blows this fall.

This would sharply limit what appears to be the grand strategy for a 1944 victory in Europe—final twin offensives by the Russians in the east and the Anglo-American-Ally forces in the west before winter closes in.

The main trend of Russian front events and their significance in the broad picture of the war—often obscure—can now be reported on high authority as having developed in this manner:

The Russian summer campaign paralleled the Anglo-American invasion of Normandy and contributed much to its success. The campaign reached its most advanced point in the suburbs of Warsaw at the end of July. The Germans had determined to hold the city and counterattacks drove the Russians out.

Subsequently toward the middle of September the Russians made another, limited, try in the Warsaw area and again they suffered a setback or as some authorities now call it, "a mild defeat."

Balkan Strategy Meanwhile they undertook their cleanup campaigns in the Baltic and Balkan areas. It is frankly recognized by officials here that Soviet military interest in maintaining some kind of pressure on the Germans coincided with Soviet political interests, especially in the Balkans.

The Balkan campaign, which has been advanced at relatively light cost, became one of opportunity as first Romania, then Bulgaria and finally Hungary fell from the Hitler fringe like overripe apples.

It is expected that after adequate preparations for a grand scale assault the Allied armies on the eastern front will join with those on the west in a major, unlimited campaign to defeat Hitler this year. But to do so they must take Warsaw.

The convergence of transportation lines, according to competent military opinion here, is such that they can not afford to leave the battered city in German hands. The first capital taken by Hitler in his drive to conquer Europe remains in his last months one of the keys to his defeat.

Capture Jap Base In Burma

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, Oct. 19 (AP)—British troops advancing into western Burma have captured the Japanese base at Tiddim, from which enemy forces launched their abortive invasion of India early this year. Allied headquarters announced today.

The British have been closing in slowly on Tiddim for several weeks after pursuing the retreating Japanese 100 miles southward from Imphal in northeastern Burma, which the enemy attempted unsuccessfully to seize.

The fate of the Tiddim garrison was not immediately disclosed. Some British forces, however, have been reported operating along the Japanese escape route to the south after fleeing through the jungles.

Use Big Bills For High Stakes

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The size of stakes in army crap games became an economic issue today, as it if already weren't.

Spang in the middle of a scholarly discussion of Allied military currency used by our Army in Italy, economists Donald L. Kemmerer and T. Eugene Seale observed that the soldiers customarily are handed their pay in the biggest bills available "and incidentally stakes in crap games are kept high."

"To keep transportation costs to a minimum our soldiers are generally paid in the largest denominations possible," the economists stated in a folder distributed by the Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy.

It doesn't take an assistant professor of economics, such as Kemmerer is at the University of Illinois, to deduce that this procedure is virtually a command invitation for high rolling on the vagaries of that Old Eighteen from Decatur and Little Joe from Kokomo.

WARSAW AND ANTWERP KEYS TO VICTORY

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The possibility of victory in Europe this year will very likely be decided by the speed with which Allied armies can turn to their own use the two great strategic keys to Hitler's fortress Germany—the Dutch port city of Antwerp and Poland's devastated capital, Warsaw.

Full use of the unloading facilities of Antwerp could solve much of the western front supply problem and support a crushing thrust into the Reich over the shortest, best route to Berlin.

Antwerp is in Allied hands but enemy guns still dominate its approaches, barring the way to shipping. Clearing those approaches is conceded by military men here to be one of the top-priority jobs on the western front.

Multiple Blows

Unless they are cleared very promptly it appears highly improbable that the Allies can muster full strength against all the enemy's vulnerable points for multiple heavy blows this fall.

This would sharply limit what appears to be the grand strategy for a 1944 victory in Europe—final twin offensives by the Russians in the east and the Anglo-American-Ally forces in the west before winter closes in.

The main trend of Russian front events and their significance in the broad picture of the war—often obscure—can now be reported on high authority as having developed in this manner:

The Russian summer campaign paralleled the Anglo-American invasion of Normandy and contributed much to its success. The campaign reached its most advanced point in the suburbs of Warsaw at the end of July. The Germans had determined to hold the city and counterattacks drove the Russians out.

Subsequently toward the middle of September the Russians made another, limited, try in the Warsaw area and again they suffered a setback or as some authorities now call it, "a mild defeat."

Balkan Strategy

Meanwhile they undertook their cleanup campaigns in the Baltic and Balkan areas. It is frankly recognized by officials here that Soviet military interest in maintaining some kind of pressure on the Germans coincided with Soviet political interests, especially in the Balkans. The Balkan campaign, which has been advanced at relatively light cost, became one of opportunity as first Romania, then Bulgaria and finally Hungary fell from the Hitler fringe like overripe apples.

It is expected that after adequate preparations for a grand scale assault the Allied armies on the eastern front will join with those on the west in a major, unlimited campaign to defeat Hitler this year. But to do so they must take Warsaw.

The convergence of transportation lines, according to competent military opinion here, is such that they can not afford to leave the battered city in German hands. The first capital taken by Hitler in his drive to conquer Europe remains in his last months one of the keys to his defeat.

Capture Jap Base In Burma

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, Oct. 19 (AP)—British troops advancing into western Burma have captured the Japanese base at Tiddim, from which enemy forces launched their abortive invasion of India early this year, Allied headquarters announced today.

The fate of the Tiddim garrison was not immediately disclosed. Small British forces, however, have been reported operating along the Japanese escape route to the south after filtering through the jungles.

TO HOLD CAREER CONFERENCE FOR H.S. STUDENTS

A career conference for all students in the junior and senior classes of the high schools of the county will be sponsored at Gettysburg college March 16, the Adams County Council of School Administrators and representatives of Gettysburg college decided Wednesday evening.

Meeting at the college, the organization also planned three other monthly meetings, formally adopted a set of seven recommendations for a program of agricultural education for the county, and moved to ask the State Department of Education for a ruling concerning the status of returning service men who have not graduated from high school.

The committee in charge of the career conference is headed by Prof. Charles R. Wolfe, registrar and dean of admissions at Gettysburg college. Other members of the committee are Prof. Lloyd C. Keefe, superintendent of the Gettysburg public schools; Prof. C. P. Keefer, supervising principal of the New Oxford schools; Miss Dorothy Gregg Lee, dean of women at Gettysburg college; and Dr. Frank H. Kramer, professor of education at the college.

To Conduct Survey

A survey will be conducted among the school students in the near future to determine which careers hold the most interest at the time. Those in which the highest degree of interest is shown will be discussed at the conference.

Prof. Guile W. Lefever, principal of Gettysburg high school, is chairman of the committee for the April joint meeting to be held with education executives from Franklin and York counties. Other members are Dr. William C. Waltemyer, professor of English Bible at the college; Dr. Anson Hamm, supervising principal of the Fairfield schools; Prof. Charles L. Yost, assistant principal of the Biglerville schools; and Miss Dorothy M. Warner, supervisor of special education for the county.

A third committee, headed by Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, was appointed to arrange for a meeting for the in-service training of teachers. Such a program will be for the instruction of teachers while they are carrying on their regular school duties. Others on the committee are Doctor Kramer and Miss Warner.

To Ask About Veterans

The program for the November meeting, which will take up a discussion on adult education and the provisions of the education sections of the "G-I Bill of Rights," will be in charge of the executive committee. Its members are Prof. Leslie V. Stock, supervising principal of the Biglerville schools; Professor Lefever; Prof. Clayton E. Bilheimer, head of the athletic department at the college; Professor Wolfe and Doctor Bream.

The group voted to ask Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, for a clarification of the requirements for graduation from high school of returning veterans who did not complete their high school work before entering the service.

The recommended seven-point program of agricultural education for Adams county was discussed and set up at the last meeting of the group April 24. It was formally adopted, however, at Wednesday night's meeting.

List Seven Points

The seven conclusions were developed by a committee consisting of C. J. Waybright, Freedom township; Richard C. Lighter, county vocational education advisor; John Hauser, Biglerville; Dr. T. L. Cline, head of the English department at the college; Professor Lefever; Dean Wilbur E. Tiberg, of the college; Professor Stock and Doctor Bream.

Included in the resolution were the seven following points:

1. Elementary schools should use practical projects connected with home duties as a basis for school activities in reading, writing, arithmetic, oral expression, health, safety, art, and in the solution of personal and social problems.

Rural School Role

2. Instruction should fit the exact environment of the locality. Each teacher should study the needs of his or her particular community and make assignments fit the needs of the people. Materials and textbooks that advance this objective should be selected.

3. A course in agriculture and nature study should be given in seventh and eighth grades and supervised by the advisor of vocational education.

4. The school in rural areas should play an important part in supplying many of the social services needed by rural people. In order to meet those needs there should be larger schools, expanded curriculum including vocational training and adult education, and modern school plants and equipment.

Ask Extended Education

5. We endorse the present program of vocational agricultural instruction in the secondary schools, and suggest that it be strengthened by building stronger courses in community living, and by adding units designed to prepare students for work in local industries such as food processing.

6. Education for rural people should be extended beyond the high school to include courses in community living, current problems,

WARSAW AND ANTWERP KEYS TO VICTORY

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The possibility of victory in Europe this year will very likely be decided by the speed with which Allied armies can turn to their own use the two great strategic keys to Hitler's fortress Germany—the Dutch port city of Antwerp and Poland's devastated capital, Warsaw.

Full use of the unloading facilities of Antwerp could solve much of the western front supply problem and support a crushing thrust into the Reich over the shortest, best route to Berlin.

Antwerp is in Allied hands but enemy guns still dominate its approaches, barring the way to shipping. Clearing those approaches is conceded by military men here to be one of the top-priority jobs on the western front.

Multiple Blows
Unless they are cleared very promptly it appears highly improbable that the Allies can muster full strength against all the enemy's vulnerable points for multiple heavy blows this fall.

This would sharply limit what appears to be the grand strategy for a 1944 victory in Europe—final twin offensives by the Russians in the east and the Anglo-American-Ally forces in the west before winter closes in.

The main trend of Russian front events and their significance in the broad picture of the war—often obscure—can now be reported on high authority as having developed in this manner:

The Russian summer campaign paralleled the Anglo-American invasion of Normandy and contributed much to its success. The campaign reached its most advanced point in the suburbs of Warsaw at the end of July. The Germans had determined to hold the city and counterattacks drove the Russians out.

Subsequently toward the middle of September the Russians made another, limited, try in the Warsaw area and again they suffered a setback or as some authorities now call it, "a mild defeat."

Balkan Strategy
Meanwhile they undertook their cleanup campaigns in the Baltic and Balkan areas. It is frankly recognized by officials here that Soviet military interest in maintaining some kind of pressure on the Germans coincided with Soviet political interests, especially in the Balkans. The Balkan campaign, which has been advanced at relatively light cost, became one of opportunity as first Romania, then Bulgaria and finally Hungary fell from the Hitler fringe like overripe apples.

It is expected that after adequate preparations for a grand scale assault the Allied armies on the eastern front will join with those on the west in a major, unlimited campaign to defeat Hitler this year. But to do so they must take Warsaw.

The convergence of transportation lines, according to competent military opinion here, is such that they can not afford to leave the battered city in German hands. The first capital taken by Hitler in his drive to conquer Europe remains in his last months one of the keys to his defeat.

Capture Jap Base In Burma

Southeast Asia Command Headquarters, Kandy, Ceylon, Oct. 19 (AP)—British troops advancing into western Burma have captured the Japanese base at Tiddim, from which enemy forces launched their abortive invasion of India early this year, Allied headquarters announced today.

The British have been closing in slowly on Tiddim for several weeks after pursuing the retreating Japanese 100 miles southward from Imphal in northeastern Burma, which the enemy attempted unsuccessfully to seize.

The fate of the Tiddim garrison was not immediately disclosed. Small British forces, however, have been reported operating along the Japanese escape route to the south after filtering through the jungles.

"I am formally placing on record a reward totaling $10,000 for information leading to the arrest of those convicted of any election fraud in this county."

The money, he said, "will be divided into 10 separate rewards of $1,000 each for information leading to a single arrest and conviction."

"This is an election for the presidency of the United States, for United States senator and congressman," he continued in the statement. "It is of the utmost importance that the debauchery of the ballot, which has heretofore marked elections in Delaware county, shall not be perpetrated."

In a prepared statement, the congressman said "a Republican administration after the last war thought it was too much bother and expense to try to prevent wars."

Use Big Bills For High Stakes

Washington, Oct. 19 (AP)—The size of stakes in army crap games became an economic issue today, as if it already weren't.

Spang in the middle of a scholarly discussion of Allied military currency used by our Army in Italy, economists Donald L. Kemmerer and T. Eugene Beattie observed that the soldiers customarily are handed their pay in the biggest bills available "and incidentally stakes in crap games are kept high."

"To keep transportation costs to a minimum our soldiers are generally paid in the largest denominations possible," the economists stated in a folder distributed by the Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy.

It doesn't take an assistant professor of economics, such as Kemmerer is at the University of Illinois, to deduce that this procedure is virtually a command invitation for high rolling on the vagaries of that Old Eight from Decatur and Little Joe from Kokomo.

TO HOLD CAREER CONFERENCE FOR H.S. STUDENTS

A career conference for all students in the junior and senior classes of the high schools of the county will be sponsored at Gettysburg college March 16, the Adams County Council of School Administrators and representatives of Gettysburg college decided Wednesday evening.

Meeting at the college, the organization also planned three other monthly meetings, formally adopted a set of seven recommendations for a program of agricultural education for the county, and moved to ask the State Department of Education for a ruling concerning the status of returning service men who have not graduated from high school.

The committee in charge of the career conference is headed by Prof. Charles R. Wolfe, registrar and dean of admissions at Gettysburg college. Other members of the committee are Prof. Lloyd C. Keefe, superintendent of the Gettysburg public schools; Prof. C. P. Keefer, supervising principal of the New Oxford schools; Miss Dorothy Gregg Lee, dean of women at Gettysburg college; and Dr. Frank H. Kramer, professor of education at the college.

To Conduct Survey
A survey will be conducted among the school students in the near future to determine which careers hold the most interest at the time. Those in which the highest degree of interest is shown will be discussed at the conference.

Prof. Guile W. Lefever, principal of Gettysburg high school, is chairman of the committee for the April joint meeting to be held with education executives from Franklin and York counties. Other members are Dr. William C. Waltemyer, professor of English Bible at the college; Dr. Anson Hamm, supervising principal of the Fairfield schools; Prof. Charles L. Yost, assistant principal of the Biglerville schools; and Miss Dorothy M. Warner, supervisor of special education for the county.

A third committee, headed by Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, was appointed to arrange for a meeting for the in-service training of teachers. Such a program will be for the instruction of teachers while they are carrying on their regular school duties. Others on the committee are Doctor Kramer and Miss Warner.

To Ask About Veterans
The program for the November meeting, which will take up a discussion on adult education and the provisions of the education sections of the "G-I Bill of Rights," will be in charge of the executive committee. Its members are Prof. Leslie V. Stock, supervising principal of the Biglerville schools; Professor Lefever; Prof. Clayton E. Bilheimer, head of the athletic department at the college; Professor Wolfe and Doctor Bream.

The group voted to ask Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of public instruction, for a clarification of the requirements for graduation from high school of returning veterans who did not complete their high school work before entering the service.

The recommended seven-point program of agricultural education for Adams county was discussed and set up at the last meeting of the group April 24. It was formally adopted, however, at Wednesday night's meeting.

List Seven Points
The seven conclusions were developed by a committee consisting of C. J. Waybright, Freedom township; Richard C. Lighter, county vocational education advisor; John Hauser, Biglerville; Dr. T. L. Cline, head of the English department at the college; Professor Lefever; Dean Wilbur E. Tibbers, of the college; Professor Stock and Doctor Bream.

Included in the resolution were the seven following points:

1. Elementary schools should use practical projects connected with home duties as a basis for school activities in reading, writing, arithmetic, oral expression, health, safety, art, and in the solution of personal and social problems.

2. Instruction should fit the exact environment of the locality. Each teacher should study the needs of his or her particular community and make assignments fit the needs of the people. Materials and textbooks that advance this objective should be selected.

3. A course in agriculture and nature study should be given in seventh and eighth grades and supervised by the advisor of vocational education.

4. The school in rural areas should play an important part in supplying many of the social services needed by rural people. In order to meet these needs there should be larger schools, expanded curriculum including vocational training and adult education, and modern school plants and equipment.

5. We endorse the present program of vocational agricultural instruction in the secondary schools, and suggest that it be strengthened by building stronger courses in community living, and by adding units designed to prepare students for work in local industries such as food processing.

6. Education for rural people should be extended beyond the high school to include courses in community living, current problems,

Pennsylvania Ministerium, and from Seattle and San Francisco for the 1950 gathering.

Although the convention took no action, delegates in final sessions yesterday heard proposals for inauguration of a religious left-lease program for the rehabilitation of the farm people in devastated areas.

Presented by the Rev. Ross H. Stover, pastor of Messiah Church, Philadelphia, and Elwood M. Bowman, New York, church extension director for the Board of American Missions, the plan calls for U. S. church people to purchase and raise blooded cattle which would be sent abroad at war's end.

The proponents suggested the project for Luther League sponsorship, with city members purchasing the animals and rural members raising them.

Seek New Seminary
Demands for establishment of a theological seminary for post-graduate work featured final business sessions, as well as a resolution calling for preparation of pamphlets which would better prepare Lutheran youth for marriage, particularly with respect to interdenominational unions.

SQUIRES WILL MEET MAROONS HERE FRIDAY

When Delone and Gettysburg high school clash on the local football field Friday evening at 8 o'clock each team will be after its second victory of the season. The game is expected to attract one of the largest crowds of the year.

Both got off to poor starts this year, Delone dropping its first four games before turning in a victory over Shenandoah Catholic last Sunday.

Gettysburg lost three in a row until last Saturday night when Waynesboro high was upset 12-0.

The teams have met but one mutual foe, Hanover high. Coach Ed- die Waleski's Squires lost to the Nighthawks 19-7 on September 22 while the Maroons received a 27-0 reverse from the Reese-men on October 6.

Delone Heavy

While the teams appear to be fairly evenly matched the Squires loom as the favorite. The squad is studded with veterans and will be one of the heaviest teams the Maroons will meet this season. In winning 38-12 last Sunday, Delone indicated it has at last hit its stride after turning in four disappointing performances.

With one, and possibly two, exceptions, Coach Dry will use the same starting lineup that won over Waynesboro. The one certain change will find Joe Hess at center in place of Don Raffensperger who suffered a dislocated knee last week. The other lineup change may be made at right halfback. Dick Fidler, regular back, is suffering with a hip injury and if he is unable to start his place will be filled by either Dick Whittinghill or Fred Heatwole.

Starting Lineups

The Maroon starters will include Sachs and Rasmussen, ends; Keefer and Sanders, tackles; Sperry and Shearer, guards; Hess, center; Moyer, quarterback; Hachalen, left half; Fidler, Whittinghill or Heatwole, right half; and Tonsel, fullback.

Delone's opening lineup will probably include: Sneringer and Lawrence, ends; R. Staub and O. Stambaugh, tackles; Ricker and Murphy, guards; Eckenrode, center; J. Murren, quarterback; W. Noel and H. Noel, halfbacks, and O. Keefer, fullback.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR. New York, Oct. 18 (AP)—New England boss tracks are worried about the mysterious "woman in red" whose betting has caused several minus pools in the mutuels. But we never heard of them worrying about the numerous guys in the red every afternoon. One reason why that Penn football team looks so good is that Bert Stiff, regular fullback two years ago, has been working with the fourth stringers in practice. Coach Ed McKeever says that Bobby Kelly has to avoid contact work. That's what all the Notre Dame backs were doing against Dartmouth. The boxing Managers' union has been revived on Jacobs beach and detractors say it is affiliated with the I. O. U.

Ed Furgol, the Detroit auto mechanic who cleaned up the amateur fields in the big open golf tournaments last summer, will have a fling at big-time match play in the Sonny Fraser invitation event at the Atlantic City country club this weekend. George (no corn) Kobb is celebrating his first anniversary as fight announcer at Madison Square Garden and it's a great tribute to say that few fans even know who he is. Red Lion To Play At Biglerville

This evening at 8 o'clock the Biglerville high school football team will entertain the Red Lion high eleven on the Biglerville gridiron. Through a record of two wins and one loss the Cammers are now fifth in the Class B division of the Lower Susquehanna football conference with Red Lion a few notches lower. The game looms as one of the best of the season as the teams appear to be evenly matched.

Capt. Howdie Gray, whose touch-down run with a recovered fumble led to Princeton's victory over Chicago in that celebrated 1922 game—when Princeton and Chicago were football big-timers—recently was made chief of surgery at Pearl Harbor. While on Saipan, Gray operated on wounded men for 51 hours with only six hours out for sleep. Allen T. Simmons asked him: "What's the secret?"

NO SILVER PLATTERS

Broadcasters at Garden State park last summer cooked up the idea of presenting a recording of their descriptions of the feature races to the winning owner. For special events they made a gold record as a special souvenir. The idea, reports Ted Husing, caught on so well that on one occasion owner Allen T. Simmons asked him: "What's the secret?"

SQUIRES WILL MEET MAROONS HERE FRIDAY

When Delone and Gettysburg high school clash on the local football field Friday evening at 8 o'clock each team will be after its second victory of the season. The game is expected to attract one of the largest crowds of the year.

Both got off to poor starts this year, Delone dropping its first four games before turning in a victory over Shenandoah Catholic last Sunday.

Gettysburg lost three in a row until last Saturday night when Waynesboro high was upset 12-0.

The teams have met but one mutual foe, Hanover high. Coach Eddie Waleski's Squires lost to the Nighthawks 19-7 on September 22 while the Maroons received a 27-0 reverse from the Reese-men on October 6.

Delone Heavy

While the teams appear to be fairly evenly matched the Squires loom as the favorite. The squad is studded with veterans and will be one of the heaviest teams the Maroons will meet this season. In winning 38-12 last Sunday, Delone indicated it has at last hit its stride after turning in four disappointing performances.

With one, and possibly two, exceptions, Coach Dry will use the same starting lineup that won over Waynesboro. The one certain change will find Joe Hess at center in place of Don Raffensperger who suffered a dislocated knee last week. The other lineup change may be made at right halfback. Dick Fidler, regular back, is suffering with a hip injury and if he is unable to start his place will be filled by either Dick Whittinghill or Fred Heatwole.

Starting Lineups

The Maroon starters will include Sachs and Rasmussen, ends; Kreefer and Sanders, tackles; Sperry and Shealer, guards; Hess, center; Moyer, quarterback; Haehnen, left half; Fidler, Whittinghill or Heatwole, right half, and Tonsel, fullback.

Delone's opening lineup will probably include: Sheeringer and Lawrence, ends; R. Staub and C. Stambaugh, tackles; Rider and Murphy, guards; Eckenrode, center; J. Murray, quarterback; W. Noel and H. Noel, halfbacks, and O. Kreefer, fullback.

MORE CHARM

The arts that little girls acquire delight the graying old.

Else why with tender boastfulness should all their charms be told?

And why should I, for all who care to read from time to time, relate so proudly growth and gain in meter and in rhyme?

Now hear me through, recording this, not knowing what comes next.

You'd smile to hear our Ellendy recite her Golden Text.

That mind of hers moves faster than her eager tongue can race.

She holds the Scripture words all right, if not in perfect place.

She heard the teacher say it once, and locked within her head,

To tell her mother later on is what she thought was said:

"The Lord my shepherd is," she says, "and ready I will be

And like a giant run to him if he should call to me."

It seems to us who smile on her the angels up above.

Must happy be to hear a child recite: "God is love!"

And they must smile to hear the way an eager lass will turn

The verses of the Holy Book which she is asked to learn.

Yes, all the angels, I am sure, at times must be perplexed

When Ellendy in Sunday School recites the Golden Text.

LAW

There is nothing more sacred in a country, outside its actual freedom, than its just laws. I say just laws, for there are many that are not just. Such as the latter should be repealed. To leave such laws upon the statute books is to insult the good laws.

But so long as laws are laws they should be strictly enforced. To disregard a law, because you do not believe in it, is to be disloyal to the land you love, and for which brave men have sacrificed their lives to keep free. Over a hundred years ago, Abraham Lincoln gave a speech before the Young Men's Lyceum of Springfield, Illinois—January 27th, 1837, to be exact.

Said Lincoln: "Let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father, and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty." Laws are always made for the many—that is, to protect the many, not the few. Otherwise such laws would be bad ones and should be repealed.

Most people are law-abiding. If they weren't we would have trouble in our laps all the time. But a great free nation cannot long remain free with disregard for its law-abiding fabric. A healthy obedience to law is what makes a nation strong and its people happy in its freedom.

Beyond a noble respect for law in itself should be the respect that we all owe to the administering of the law. There is no place in a democracy where more justice should be found than in our courts of law—where judges sit from the lowest to the highest. It is to us men that the humblest citizen may come—and expect—as well as get justice.

The appointment of some judges is a wise procedure, but it is all too often abused by the selection of political stooges instead of the ablest possible lawyers. The political appointee is certainly a strong character who can forget his political benefactor!

So long as we live in a very imperfect world, however, let us strive to make it a better one, and there is no better way than to respect a law, and every court of law.

MORE CHARM

The aris that little girls acquire delight the graying old.
Else why with tender boastfulness should all their charms be told?
And why should I, for all who care to read from time to time, relate so proudly growth and gain in meter and in rhyme?
Now hear me through, recording this, not knowing what comes next,
You'd smile to hear our Ellendy recite her Golden Text.

That mind of hers moves faster than her eager tongue can race.
She holds the Scripture words all right, if not in perfect place.
She heard the teacher say it once, and locked within her head,
To tell her mother later on is what she thought was said:
"The Lord my shepherd is," she says, "and ready I will be
And like a giant run to him if he should call to me."

It seems to us who smile on her the angels up above
Must happy be to hear a child recite: "God is love!"
And they must smile to hear the way an eager lass will turn
The verses of the Holy Book which she is asked to learn.
Yes, all the angels, I am sure, at times must be perplexed
When Ellendy in Sunday School recites the Golden Text.

Today's Talk

LAW

There is nothing more sacred in a country, outside its actual freedom, than its just laws. I say just laws, for there are many that are not just. Such as the latter should be repealed. To leave such laws upon the statute books is to insult the good laws.

But so long as laws are laws they should be strictly enforced. To disregard a law, because you do not believe in it, is to be disloyal to the land you love, and for which brave men have sacrificed their lives to keep free. Over a hundred years ago, Abraham Lincoln gave a speech before the Young Men's Lyceum of Springfield, Illinois—January 27th, 1837, to be exact.

Said Lincoln: "Let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father, and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty." Laws are always made for the many—that is, to protect the many, not the few. Otherwise such laws would be bad ones and should be repealed.

Most people are law-abiding. If they weren't we would have trouble in our laps all the time. But a great free nation cannot long remain free with disregard for its laws practiced by evil bidders into its law-abiding fabric. A healthy obedience to law is what makes a nation strong and its people happy in its freedom.

Beyond a noble respect for law in itself should be the respect that we all owe to the administering of the law. There is no place in a democracy where more justice should be found than in our courts of law—where judges sit, from the lowest to the highest. It is to these men that the humblest citizen may come—and expect—as well as get, justice.

The appointment of some judges is a wise procedure, but it is all too often abused by the selection of political stooges instead of the ablest possible lawyers. The political appointee is certainly a strong character who can forget his political benefactor!

So long as we live in a very imperfect world, however, let us strive to make it a better one, and there is no better way than to respect all law, and every court of law.

BRICKER AND TRUMAN WIND UP WEST TOUR

En Route With Bricker, Oct. 19 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker wound up his six-day campaign for California's 25 electoral votes today after an unprecedented demonstration by supporters at Los Angeles. The eight-car special train of the Republican vice presidential nominee chugged on to Ekersfield, Tulare, Selma and Fresno before leaving a state in which, he said, he found "much encouragement."

The Ohio governor, who has devoted more time to California than any other state in his four-week, 9,250-mile western swing, predicted a Republic victory there in the Nov. 7 election. California has given a majority to the Democrats in the last three presidential contests.

Bricker's campaign staff appeared to be in high spirits as a result of his reception last night in Los Angeles Shrine auditorium, where Senator Harry S. Truman, the Democratic candidate for vice president, spoke two days before.

Tours Washington With Truman En Route to Seattle, Wash., Oct. 19 (AP)—Leaving his private car at Portland, Ore., Senator Harry S. Truman toured Washington by automobile today with Senator Wallgren (D-Wash.) in an effort to put new emphasis on the Democratic campaign in the north-west.

He expected to deliver his west coast campaign with a major political address in the Seattle civic auditorium in which he said he would stress the "importance of President Roosevelt's re-election" to the development of water power and the production of light metals in this area.

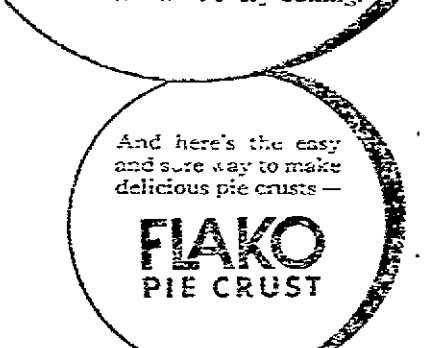

The Truman party wound up a day's campaign in Oregon last night at a Democratic party rally in Portland.

The bridgehead, east of the important road junction town of Cesena, was gained against strong German opposition, while in the foothills south of the town Indian troops of the Eighth Army captured Aquilone and Rotersano, the war bulletin said.

Fighting bitterly against reinforced German troops American infantrymen established themselves at San Clemente on a subsidiary road to the Bologna-Rimini highway, nine miles from Castel San Pietro.

Bad weather again hampered ground operations in most of the sectors and curtailed operations of the Mediterranean Allied Air Force.

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When disorder of kidney function permits poisons to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, pimples under the eyes, backache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your doctor for Dean's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisons waste from your blood. Get Dean's Pills.

BRICKER AND TRUMAN WIND UP WEST TOUR

En Route With Bricker, Oct. 19 (AP)—Gov. John W. Bricker wound up his six-day campaign for California's 25 electoral votes today after an unprecedented demonstration by supporters at Los Angeles.

The eight-car special train of the Republican vice presidential nominee chugged on to Bakersfield, Tulare, Selma and Fresno before leaving a state in which, he said, he found "much encouragement."

The Ohio governor, who has devoted more time to California than any other state in his four-week, 9,250-mile western swing, predicted a Republic victory there in the Nov. 7 election. California has given a majority to the Democrats in the last three presidential contests.

Bricker's campaign staff appeared to be in high spirits as a result of his reception last night in Los Angeles's Shrine auditorium, where Senator Harry S. Truman, the Democratic candidate for vice president, spoke two days before.

Tours Washington
With Truman En Route to Seattle, Wash., Oct. 19 (AP)—Leaving his private car at Portland, Ore., Senator Harry S. Truman toured Washington by automobile today with Senator Wallgren (D-Wash.), in an effort to put new emphasis on the Democratic campaign in the north-west.

He expected to climax his west coast campaign with a major political address in the Seattle civic auditorium in which he said he would stress the "importance of President Roosevelt's re-election" to the development of water power and the production of light metals in this area.

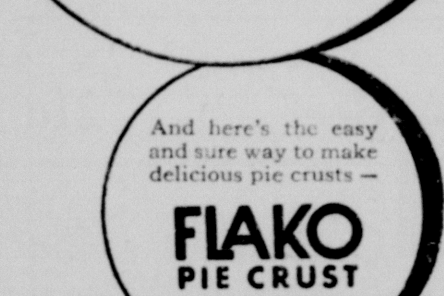

The Truman party wound up a day's campaign in Oregon last night at a Democratic party rally in Portland.

British Cruiser Captures Island

Rome, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Nazi garrison on Santorin Island, 70 miles north of Crete in the Sea of Candia, surrendered yesterday to the British cruiser Ajax, Allied headquarters announced today.

The naval command said that carrier planes sweeping in from the Aegean heavily attacked enemy transport in the vicinity of Volos, 35 miles southeast of Larisa on the Greek mainland. The same planes also took a heavy toll of enemy shipping in the Sporades Islands in the Aegean northeast of Athens.

In the Volos area the naval planes were credited with destruction of three locomotives and 36 trucks. An additional locomotive, four armored cars and three barges were damaged.

Six enemy vessels were destroyed and another merchant ship set afire Oct. 17 off Lemnos, southeast of Salonika, the naval command announced. Twenty smaller enemy craft were disposed of in the same region.

SLOW GAIN ON ITALIAN FRONT

By LYNN HEINZLER

Rome, Oct. 19 (AP)—Fifth Army troops have captured several more peaks and villages on the southern approaches to Bologna and the Eighth Army has forced a bridgehead across the Pisciatello river north of the Bologna-Rimini highway in the Adriatic sector. Allied headquarters announced today.

The bridgehead, east of the important road junction town of Cesena, was gained against strong German opposition, while in the foothills south of the town Indian troops of the Eighth Army captured Acquarola and Roversano, the war bulletin said.

Fighting bitterly against reinforced German troops American infantrymen established themselves at San Clemente on a subsidiary road to the Bologna-Rimini highway, nine miles from Castel San Pietro.

"Very Heavy Fighting"
 The communique said "very heavy fighting" continued on the southern slopes of Monte Belmonte in the highway 65 area. South African troops on the left flank of this sector captured Monte Pezza.

Bad weather again hampered ground operations in most of the sectors and curtailed operations of the Mediterranean Allied Air Force.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent urination, backache, and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headache and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

M'ARTHUR IS MAKING GOOD WAR PROMISE

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(Substituting for Denis Mackenzie)
Japanese reports that the re-occupation of the Philippines has begun are, as usual, subject to revision for accuracy, but it is perfectly in the picture of the Pacific war that has been building up for some time.

Whether the Let to Ours action is actually a part of a general invasion or merely a preliminary of a later move, it means that within a comparatively short time MacArthur will have kept his promise to return.

Never before in world history has there been such a battle as that for the Philippines, which is actually what the entire Pacific war has amounted to so far. Japanese attempts have been pushed back gradually for thousands of miles to prepare for this action. Even Admiral Halsey's activities of the last few days, in a comparatively small corner of the great ocean, have been staged on a scale to stagger the imagination. He has thrown a great are of protection between the Philippines and Japan, destroyed 915 enemy planes and with them, the threat of aerial counter-attack, sunk or damaged 312 ships, and smashed many of the bases from which both operated. Now history's greatest fleet and greatest floating air force can be placed at the disposal of MacArthur.

Two Year Climax
It brings the climax of two long years of fighting a cunning enemy in the jungles of the southwest Pacific with one hand while building, slowly and utterly under the hand, a strong force for the return to the beleaguered fortresses around Manila.

The battle will be bloody, but we can hope it will not be long. The Japanese have never been able to entrench themselves firmly in the central and southern Philippines, where native guerrillas and even some Americans have continued resistance.

South of Manila the action can be expected to resemble very closely that on the individual islands which have been made the stepping stones for the return. Unless the situation has changed since last reports, only on Luzon can we be expected a full-scale clash of arms. And even that may have been reduced, through constant attrition of Japanese supply lines, to a less deter-

REDS LIBERATE HUGE PART OF CZECH NATION

By DANIEL DELUCE
Moscow, Oct. 19 (AP)—Swift Russian advances through the Carpathian mountains have liberated one-third of the Carpatho-Ukraine, eastern-most province of Czechoslovakia, and established virtually a solid front for the Red Army across the wedge of high ground between the Polish and Hungarian plains.

Moscow announced early today that Col. Gen. Ivan D. Petrov's fourth, Ukrainian command, pouring through gaps left in enemy defenses by Hungary's military collapse, had dealt stunning blows to German positions in the rich Danubian basin.

Col. Ernst von Hammer, Berlin radio commentator, said today the Germans had evacuated the border town of Eydtukhen in East Prussia. (Von Hammer said the evacuation occurred after the Russians had thrown in strong tank and infantry formations.)

Reds Remain Silent
(He asserted 257 Russian tanks had been destroyed in three days' fighting, and that the Russians had not succeeded in breaking through the German defensive line.)

(Eydtukhen lies just across the East Prussian border a dozen miles due west of the Lithuanian town of Vilkaviskis, from where the Germans have said the Russians began their present offensive.)

The Russians remained silent on the offensive operations against East Prussia.

Moscow in the past has followed the policy of silence when a big attack is imminent or just underway.

The Soviet high command disclosed that Russian troops had captured seven important Carpathian passes in advances ranging from 12 1/2 miles to 31 miles along a 170-mile front.

It also was disclosed that Russian and Romanian forces under Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, commander of the Second Ukrainian Army, have been fighting near Sighet for two days after a drive northward through Transylvania.

BURNED TO DEATH
Lebanon, Pa., Oct. 19 (AP)—Ronald Meyer, three-year-old son of an Army private serving overseas, was burned to death yesterday when his foot caught in a bedspring after a fire started in the mattress.

Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 19 (AP)—James Pitcock aimed at a buck. The bullet passed, cleanly through the buck's ribs, and then broke the neck of a doe standing on the other side. Both animals died instantly.

That wasn't all of Pitcock's luck either. Besides hitting a regular game permit, he was carrying a special license allowing him to hunt doe.

M'ARTHUR IS MAKING GOOD WAR PROMISE

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(Substituting for Dewitt Mackenzie)

Japanese reports that the re-occupation of the Philippines has begun are, as usual, subject to revision for accuracy, but fit perfectly into the picture of the Pacific war which has been building up for some time.

Whether the Leyte Gulf action is actually a part of a general offensive or merely a preliminary is of little moment. Either way it means that within a comparatively short time MacArthur will have kept his promise to return.

Never before in world history has there been such a battle as that for the Philippines, which is actually what the entire Pacific war has amounted to so far. Japanese outposts have been pushed back gradually for thousands of miles to prepare for this action. Even Admiral Halsey's activities of the last few days, in a comparatively small corner of the great ocean, have been staged on a scale to stagger the imagination. He has thrown a great arc of protection between the Philippines and Japan, destroyed 915 enemy planes and with them the threat of aerial counter-action, sunk or damaged 312 ships, and smashed many of the bases from which both operated. Now history's greatest fleet and greatest floating air force can be placed at the disposal of MacArthur.

Two Year Climax

It brings the climax of two long years of fighting a cunning enemy in the jungles of the southwest Pacific with one hand while building, slowly and bitterly under the handicaps of priorities for Europe, the striking force for the return to the hallowed fortresses around Manila.

The battle will be bloody, but we can hope it will not be long. The Japanese have never been able to entrench themselves firmly in the central and southern Philippines, where native Guerrillas and even some Americans have continued resistance.

South of Manila the action can be expected to resemble very closely that on the individual islands which have been made the stepping stones for the return. Unless the situation has changed since last reports, only on Luzon can there be expected a full-scale clash of armies. And even that may have been reduced, through constant attrition of Japanese supply lines, to a less deter-

REDS LIBERATE HUGE PART OF CZECH NATION

By DANIEL DELUCE

Moscow, Oct. 19 (AP)—Swift Russian advances through the Carpathian mountains have liberated one third of the Carpatho-Ukraine, east-

mined point than evidenced in the Solomons and New Guinea.

Key To Pacific

Once recovered as a base for further operations against Japan, the Philippines will prove the key to the whole Pacific war. The resources of the Indies, Sumatra and Malaya on which the Japanese have depended will be largely cut off. In three years America, fighting two wars either of which would have staggered the historians of the past, will have returned the Pacific situation almost to its starting point. We know now that we can't "whip the Japs in ninety days" as some thought before Pearl Harbor. But we also know that if MacArthur has Thanksgiving dinner in Manila Japanese Thanksgivings will be all over.

Moscow announced early today that Col. Gen. Ivan D. Petrov's fourth, Ukrainian command, pouring through gaps left in enemy defenses by Hungary's military collapse, had dealt stunning blows to German positions in the rich Danubian basin.

Vilkaviskis, from where the Germans have said the Russians began their present offensive.)

The Russians remained silent on the offensive operations against East Prussia.

Moscow in the past has followed the policy of silence when a big attack is imminent or just underway. The Soviet high command disclosed that Russian troops had captured seven important Carpathian passes in advances ranging from 12 1/2 miles to 31 miles along a 170-mile front.

It also was disclosed that Russian and Romanian forces under Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, commander of the Second Ukrainian Army, have been fighting near Sighet for two days after a drive northward through Transylvania.

Two Year Climax

It brings the climax of two long years of fighting a cunning enemy in the jungles of the southwest Pacific with one hand while building, slowly and bitterly under the handicaps of priorities for Europe, the striking force for the return to the hallowed fortresses around Manila.

The battle will be bloody, but we can hope it will not be long. The Japanese have never been able to entrench themselves firmly in the central and southern Philippines, where native Guerrillas and even some Americans have continued resistance.

South of Manila the action can be expected to resemble very closely that on the individual islands which have been made the stepping stones for the return. Unless the situation has changed since last reports, only on Luzon can there be expected a full-scale clash of armies. And even that may have been reduced, through constant attrition of Japanese supply lines, to a less deter-

REDS LIBERATE HUGE PART OF CZECH NATION

By DANIEL DELUCE

Moscow, Oct. 19 (AP)—Swift Russian advances through the Carpathian mountains have liberated one third of the Carpatho-Ukraine, east-

mined point than evidenced in the Solomons and New Guinea.

Key To Pacific

Once recovered as a base for further operations against Japan, the Philippines will prove the key to the whole Pacific war. The resources of the Indies, Sumatra and Malaya on which the Japanese have depended will be largely cut off. In three years America, fighting two wars either of which would have staggered the historians of the past, will have returned the Pacific situation almost to its starting point. We know now that we can't "whip the Japs in ninety days" as some thought before Pearl Harbor. But we also know that if MacArthur has Thanksgiving dinner in Manila Japanese Thanksgivings will be all over.

ern-most province of Czechoslovakia, and established virtually a solid front for the Red Army across the wedge of high ground between the Polish and Hungarian plains.

Moscow announced early today that Col. Gen. Ivan D. Petrov's fourth, Ukrainian command, pouring through gaps left in enemy defenses by Hungary's military col-lapses, had dealt stunning blows to German positions in the rich Danubian basin.

(Col. Ernst von Hammer, Berlin radio commentator, said today the Germans had evacuated the border town of Eydkuhnen in East Prussia.)

(Von Hammer said the evacuation occurred after the Russians had thrown in strong tank and infantry formations.)

Reds Remain Silent

(He asserted 257 Russian tanks had been destroyed in three days' fighting, and that the Russians had not succeeded in breaking through the German defensive line.)

(Eydkuhnen lies just across the East Prussian border a dozen miles due west of the Lithuanian town of Vilkaviskis, from where the Germans have said the Russians began their present offensive.)

The Russians remained silent on the offensive operations against East Prussia.

Moscow in the past has followed the policy of silence when a big attack is imminent or just underway. The Soviet high command disclosed that Russian troops had captured seven important Carpathian passes in advances ranging from 12½ miles to 31 miles along a 170-mile front.

It also was disclosed that Russian and Romanian forces under Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky, commander of the Second Ukrainian Army, have been fighting near Sighet for two days after a drive northward through Transylvania.

BURNED TO DEATH

Lebanon, Pa., Oct. 19 (AP)—Ronald Meyer, three-year-old son of an Army private serving overseas, was burned to death yesterday when his foot caught in a bedspring after a fire started in the mattress.

Pueblo, Colo., Oct. 19 (AP)—James Pitcock aimed at a buck. The bullet passed cleanly through the buck's ribs, and then broke the neck of a doe standing on the other side. Both animals died instantly.

That wasn't all of Pitcock's luck, either. Besides having a regular game permit, he was carrying a special license allowing him to hunt doe.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kellholts near town have three sons in the service. Pvt. Merwin A. in Italy, and S. Sgt. Charles A. in France, and J. Maynard, aboard the USS Salt Lake City somewhere in the southwest Pacific. In a letter to his parents from Italy, Merwin has this to say: "It has been some time since I have written for I have been to Rome seeing the sights, including the ruins of ancient Rome, and I would think that the people here would be satisfied with those and not invite destruction of the more modern buildings by entering a war, but maybe their children will add the ruins of today to those of Nero's time which will indeed make quite a collection to be viewed by the tourists. I had the great privilege of meeting the Pope at the Vatican, and I saw the balcony from which Mussolini delivered his war speeches to his people, and judging from the interest shown by the visiting soldiers in the balcony it is evident that the spot will be attractive to others coming to Rome after the war. Rome is a beautiful city, more beautiful to me than any of the cities that I have seen at home. The people are well dressed and there seems to be plenty to eat, or at least the people appear to be well fed."

And, their son, S. Sgt. Charles A., now in France, addresses a letter to them containing the following interesting comments: "Yesterday, for the first time since I've been here I checked the newspapers to see if I had any, as a few weeks ago one of the boys brought The Gettysburg Times to me. To my agreeable surprise I found two Taneytown papers, Aug. 4 and 18. How many other issues, I do not know, for the papers lay in the mail room and if no body claims them they are thrown away. I hope you got my package off in good time." The third son, J. Maynard, is out of touch with mailing facilities at this time.

Miss Margaret Buford, 87, died at 1:09 p. m. on Monday, at the home of Miss Mary Ekenrode near St. Anthony's where she has resided for the past five years. The body was removed to Baltimore where burial will take place. Details of the funeral are not known.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith have announced the birth of twin sons at New Orleans on October 12th where the Smiths have resided for the past several years. Mr. Smith is connected with the Consolidated Vulture Aircraft there. He is formerly of Lancaster. Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Oster, 119 West Main street.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Lutheran church recently was held at the parish house under the leadership of Mrs. Phillip Bower. Mrs. Robert Gilmelan, 224 West Main street, gave a talk on Madam Chiang Kai-shek of China. Mrs. Albert McClell, 801 West Main street, read an article on "Boys in the Service." The society contributed $5 and Mrs. McClell's Intermediate Sunday school class gave $5 to the National War Fund. The women of the church are sponsoring the collection of clothing for the Russians to be left at the Parish house or at the parsonage.

Charles E. Bull, representing the U. S. Railroad Retirement Board (employment service section) with offices in Baltimore, recently spent several hours here in an effort to secure local labor for the railroads. He mentioned the possibilities for part time work offered to the farmers during the winter months when they might be able to devote some time to this extra work. The U. S. employment office is located in Winchester Hall, Frederick.

California is named after an imaginary island floating in an oldtime romance.

Pvt. Murray E. Stoner

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Keilholz near town have three sons in the service. Pvt. Merwin A. in Italy, and S. Sgt. Charles A. in France, and J. Maynard, aboard the USS Salt Lake City somewhere in the southwest Pacific. In a letter to his parents from Italy, Merwin has this to say: "I have been some time since I have written for I have been to Rome seeing the sights, including the ruins of ancient Rome, and I would think that the people here would be satisfied with those and not invite destruction of the more modern buildings by entering a war, but maybe their children will add the ruins of today to those of Nero's time which will indeed make quite a collection to be viewed by the tourists. I had the great privilege of meeting the Pope at the Vatican, and I saw the balcony from which Mussolini delivered his war speeches to his people, and judging from the interest shown by the visiting soldiers in the balcony it is evident that the spot will be attractive to others coming to Rome after the war. Rome is a beautiful city, more beautiful to me than any of the cities that I have seen at home. The people are well dressed and there seems to be plenty to eat, or at least the people appear to be well fed."

And, their son, S. Sgt. Charles A., now in France, addresses a letter to them containing the following interesting comments: "Yesterday, for the first time since I've been here I checked the newspapers to see if I had any, as a few weeks ago one of the boys brought The Gettysburg Times to me. To my agreeable surprise I found two Taneytown papers, Aug. 4 and 18. How many other issues, I do not know, for the papers lay in the mail room and if no body claims them they are thrown away. I hope you got my package off in good time." The third son, J. Maynard, is out of touch with mailing facilities at this time.

Miss Margaret Buford, 87, died at 1:00 p. m. on Monday, at the home of Miss Mary Eckenrode near St. Anthony's where she has resided for the past five years. The body was removed to Baltimore where burial will take place. Details of the funeral are not known.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith have announced the birth of twin sons at New Orleans on October 12th where the Smiths have resided for the past several years. Mr. Smith is connected with the Consolidated Vultee Aircraft there. He is formerly of Lancaster. Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ohler, 119 West Main street.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Lutheran church recently was held at the Parish house under the leadership of Mrs. Philip Bower. Mrs. Robert Gillelan, 224 West Main street, gave a talk on Madam Chiang Kai-shek of China. Mrs. Albert McClell, 601 West Main street, read an article on "Boys in the Service." The society contributed $5 and Mrs. McClell's Intermediate Sunday school class gave $5 to the National War Fund. The women of the church are sponsoring the collection of clothing for the Russians to be left at the Parish house or at the parsonage.

Charles E. Bull, representing the U. S. Railroad Retirement Board (employment service section) with offices in Baltimore, recently spent several hours here in an effort to secure local labor for the railroads. He mentioned the possibilities for part time work offered to the farmers during the winter months when they might be able to devote some time to this extra work. The U. S. employment office is located in Winchester Hall, Frederick.

California is named after an imaginary island figuring in an oldtime romance.

Pvt. Murray E. Stoner

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg.—Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Keilholz near town have three sons in the service. Pvt. Merwin A. in Italy, and S. Sgt. Charles A. in France, and J. Maynard, aboard the USS Salt Lake City somewhere in the southwest Pacific. In a letter to his parents from Italy, Merwin has this to say: "It has been some time since I have written for I have been to Rome seeing the sights, including the ruins of ancient Rome, and I would think that the people here would be satisfied with those and not invite destruction of the more modern buildings by entering a war, but maybe their children will add the ruins of today to those of Nero's time which will indeed make quite a collection to be viewed by the tourists. I had the great privilege of meeting the Pope at the Vatican, and I saw the balcony from which Mussolini delivered his war speeches to his people, and judging from the interest shown by the visiting soldiers in the balcony it is evident that the spot will be attractive to others coming to Rome after the war. Rome is a beautiful city, more beautiful to me than any of the cities that I have seen at home. The people are well dressed and there seems to be plenty to eat, or at least the people appear to be well fed."

And, their son, S. Sgt. Charles A., now in France, addresses a letter to them containing the following interesting comments: "Yesterday, for the first time since I've been here I checked the newspapers to see if I had any, as a few weeks ago one of the boys brought The Gettysburg Times to me. To my agreeable surprise I found two Taneytown papers, Aug. 4 and 18. How many other issues, I do not know, for the papers lay in the mail room and if no body claims them they are thrown away. I hope you got my package off in good time." The third son, J. Maynard, is out of touch with mailing facilities at this time.

Miss Margaret Buford, 87, died at 1:00 p. m. on Monday, at the home of Miss Mary Eckenrode near St. Anthony's where she has resided for the past five years. The body was removed to Baltimore where burial will take place. Details of the funeral are not known.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith have announced the birth of twin sons at New Orleans on October 12th where the Smiths have resided for the past several years. Mr. Smith is connected with the Consolidated Vultec Aircraft there. He is formerly of Lancaster. Mrs. Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Ohler, 119 West Main street.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary society of the Lutheran church recently was held at the Parish house under the leadership of Mrs. Phillip Bower. Mrs. Robert Gillelan, 224 West Main street, gave a talk on Madam Chiang Kai-shek of China. Mrs. Albert McClellan, 601 West Main street, read an article on "Boys in the Service." The society contributed $5 and Mrs. McClellan's Intermediate Sunday school class gave $5 to the National War Fund. The women of the church are sponsoring the collection of clothing for the Russians to be left at the Parish house or at the parsonage.

Charles E. Bull, representing the U. S. Railroad Retirement Board (employment service section) with offices in Baltimore, recently spent several hours here in an effort to secure local labor for the railroads. He mentioned the possibilities for part time work offered to the farmers during the winter months when they might be able to devote some time to this extra work. The U. S. employment office is located in Winchester Hall, Frederick.

California is named after an imaginary island figuring in an oldtime romance.

DEWEY SCORES SECRET POLICY OF ROOSEVELT

By JACK BELL
Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey stood today on the side of those who oppose American reservations that might "nullify" an international peace organization—his position made clear in his belaboring attack last night on what he termed the "personal, secret diplomacy" of President Roosevelt.

The Republican Presidential nominee told the Herald Tribune Forum in an address broadcast nationally from New York city that it would be a "great disaster" if a few individual rulers should in secret conferences try to shape the future peace of the world.

"We must make certain that our participation in (this) world organization is not subjected to reservations that would nullify the power of that organization to maintain peace and to halt future aggression. The surest way to invite disaster is to insist that everything must be perfect from the start," he said.

Pact With Stalin
The Republican nominee charged first that President Roosevelt had undertaken "personally and secretly with Mr. Stalin" to settle questions involving the restoration of Poland as a free state, declaring that there was no "simple solution" to the differences between Russia and Poland "which go deep into history."

Dewey asserted that the Allied agreement under which Romania quit the war as an Axis country last September 12 was signed for the United States by a Russian representative he identified only as "Melinovsky."

"This was no military armistice," the candidate declared. "That agreement fixed the future frontiers of Romania. It disposed of Bessarabia and Transylvania, two of the worst trouble spots of Europe. It dealt with economic matters."

The Republican nominee quoted a vice president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union as reporting on his return from Italy that there was "mass unemployment, hunger, despair, degradation, delinquency and painful disappointment" there because the Allies have not "helped the Italian people to help themselves."

Discard Reich Plan
Dewey charged that "careful plans" worked out by the War and State departments for the occupation of Germany had been discarded when President Roosevelt took Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau with him to the recent conference with Prime Minister Churchill in Quebec.

The New York governor said a Morgenthau plan then was abandoned and Leo Crowley, head of the Foreign Economic administration, ordered to prepare a new one. "Meanwhile," Dewey said, "Germany's Propaganda Minister Goebbels has seized upon the episode to terrify the Germans into fanatical resistance."

"Almost overnight, the morale of the German people seemed changed. They are fighting with the frenzy of despair. We are paying in blood for our failure to have ready an intelligent program for dealing with invaded Germany."

Dewey asserted that "the unfortunate consequences of Mr. Roosevelt's personal antipathy for General (Charles) DeGaulle are too well known."

"Mr. Roosevelt's persistent refusal to grant recognition to the DeGaulle government of France is contributing to the increasing chaos behind our lines at a critical period of the war," he said.

JESS GITT SAYS . . .

Who Can Get Along Without What?

We all remember the Hoover Depression . . . when millions of honest, decent, hard-working folks got along without homes, clothes, adequate food, refrigerators, autos, insurance, teeth fixing and the like.

They had to get along without them.

Then we, the people, changed the rules because the old rules had sent us to the cleaners.

We brought the farmer from destitution and desperation to a real stake in the national economy.

We decided it was okay for trade unions to sit down with employers and argue their problems out instead of fighting them out on the picket line.

We decided that minimum wages was a good thing for everybody—not only as a sample of human justice, but because it started the cash registers ringing again.

We guaranteed the poor man's bank deposits.

DEWEY SCORES SECRET POLICY OF ROOSEVELT

By JACK BELL
Albany, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey stood today on the side of those who oppose American reservations that might "nullify" an international peace organization—his position made clear in his belaboring attack last night on what he termed the "personal, secret diplomacy" of President Roosevelt.

The Republican Presidential nominee told the Herald Tribune Forum in an address broadcast nationally from New York city that it would be a "great disaster" if "a few individual rulers should in secret conferences try to shape the peace of the world."

"We must make certain that our participation in (this) world organization is not subjected to reservations that would nullify the power of that organization to maintain peace and to halt future aggression. The surest way to invite disaster is to insist that everything must be perfect from the start," he said.

Pact With Stalin
The Republican nominee charged first that President Roosevelt had undertaken "personally and secretly with Mr. Stalin" to settle questions involving the restoration of Poland as a free state, declaring that there was no "simple solution" to the differences between Russia and Poland "which go deep into history."

Dewey asserted that the Allied agreement under which Romania quit the war as an Axis country last September 12 was signed for the United States by a Russian representative he identified only as "Melnosky."

"This was no military armistice," the candidate declared. "That agreement fixed the future frontiers of Romania. It disposed of Bessarabia and Transylvania, two of the worst trouble spots of Europe. It dealt with economic matters."

The Republican nominee quoted a vice president of the International Ladies' Garment Workers union as reporting on his return from Italy that there was "mass unemployment, hunger, despair, degradation, delinquency and painful disappointment" there because the Allies have not "helped the Italian people to help themselves."

Discard Reich Plan
Dewey charged that "careful plans" worked out by the War and State departments for the occupation of Germany had been discarded when President Roosevelt took Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau with him to the recent conference with Prime Minister Churchill in Quebec.

The New York governor said a Morgenthau plan then was abandoned and Leo Crowley, head of the Foreign Economic Administration, ordered to prepare a new one.

"Meanwhile," Dewey said, "Germany's Propaganda Minister Goebbels has seized upon the episode to terrify the Germans into fanatical resistance. * * * Almost overnight, the morale of the German people seemed changed. They are fighting with the frenzy of despair. We are paying in blood for our failure to have ready an intelligent program for dealing with invaded Germany."

Dewey asserted that "the unfortunate consequences of Mr. Roosevelt's personal antipathy for General (Charles) DeGaulle are too well known."

"Mr. Roosevelt's persistent refusal to grant recognition to the DeGaulle government of France is contributing to the increasing chaos behind our lines at a critical period of the war," he said.

JESS GITT SAYS . . .

Who Can Get Along Without What?

We all remember the Hoover Depression . . . when millions of honest, decent, hard-working folks got along without homes, clothes, adequate food, refrigerators, autos, insurance, teeth fixing and the like.

They had to get along without them.

Then we, the people, changed the rules because the old rules had sent us to the cleaners.

We brought the farmer from destitution and desperation to a real stake in the national economy.

We decided it was okay for trade unions to sit down with employers and argue their problems out instead of fighting them out on the picket line.

We decided that minimum wages was a good thing for everybody—not only as a sample of human justice, but because it started the cash registers ringing again.

We guaranteed the poor man's bank deposits.

We changed the face of the country with useful public works—parks, schools, roads, dams.

And we did all these things because we began to realize that human beings were the real wealth of a nation; and that if we don't take care of this living, product-consuming wealth, the dollar wealth just goes down the sewer.

Call it what you like—New Deal, National Conscience, mass-integrity—it means giving everybody . . . farmer, worker, businessman, professional man . . . a fair shake; enough of the pie to insure a balanced, economic diet. It means practical and warm-hearted attention to the needs of our war veterans. It means social security and the extension of voluntary systems of medical care. It is the only road to abundance and full employment.
